Weekly Newsletter

Dear Parents and Carers,

As we reach the end of another busy and successful week, I would like to take the opportunity to thank you for your continued support and partnership with our school.

This week, we were incredibly proud of our Year 3 pupils during their visit to Scarborough on Thursday. The children represented our school brilliantly and received some wonderful compliments from staff at the castle about their behaviour, manners and enthusiasm throughout the day. Hearing such positive feedback from members of the public and educational staff is always a proud moment for us and reflects the values our pupils demonstrate every day. Well done, Year 3! I would also like to extend my sincere thanks to the staff who organised and accompanied the visit. Educational visits require a great deal of planning and preparation behind the scenes, and we are grateful for the commitment and dedication shown in providing these valuable experiences for our children.

It was also wonderful to see so many parents and carers joining our Year 4 pupils this week to work together on their sewing project. Opportunities like these are incredibly valuable as they strengthen the partnership between home and school while giving children the chance to showcase their learning and develop new skills alongside the important adults in their lives. Thank you to everyone who was able to attend and support the children. The excitement and pride on their faces was lovely to see.

Looking ahead to next week, we will be visiting one of our Trust schools, Auckley Academy, to work collaboratively with colleagues and share good practice around "doing the basics brilliantly". These opportunities allow us to learn from one another and continue developing a consistent approach that helps every child achieve success.

Research consistently shows that high-quality everyday classroom teaching has the greatest impact on pupil outcomes. As a school, we are committed to continually reflecting on our practice, refining our teaching and ensuring that pupils receive effective feedback that moves learning forward. While this ongoing improvement work is not always visible, it remains at the heart of everything we do and reflects our determination to provide the very best education for all children.

Next week, alongside Mrs Marsden, Deputy Headteacher, and Mrs Johnson, SENDCo, I will be meeting with every class teacher to discuss how children are progressing in class and whether any additional support may be needed. These pupil progress meetings are an important part of ensuring that we know our children well as individuals and can identify any barriers to learning at the earliest opportunity. By working closely together and regularly reviewing progress, we can ensure effective support is put in place promptly, helping every child to achieve their full potential and thrive both academically and personally.

Finally, please remember that school works best when we work together. We greatly value your feedback, comments and suggestions. Whether you have a question, concern or simply wish to share something positive, please do get in touch. We are proud of the strong partnership we have with our families and are always here to help.

Thank you for your continued support, and I hope you all have a wonderful weekend.

Kind regards,

Joanne Frost
Headteacher
